A Little Toolbox for You

Here is an online dictionary (<http://www.wordreference.com/de>) for you. You get definitions in English from it. You just click on it, fill in the word that you do not understand and then you get a definition in English.

This next dictionary (<http://www.babylon.com>) gives you an English-German translation. You have to download it first. But then it will always be in your computer and be ready to assist you when you are online.

British Teenagers – Talking about Racism

‘Race is not important.’ This sentence is heard among kids quite often these days, and that is a good thing. However, there are still people around us who discriminate against those whose skin is not white. In this first part of the web unit you can read what young kids of different skin colour think and say about race. Meet various boys and girls who could also be in your class at school.

1. What does Megan say about football ten years ago? She read something about black players in a football team. What exactly was it?

2. How I would react if I were standing next to people at a football match who were calling black players bad names just because of the colour of their skin or the race they belong to:

3. Young people talking about different religions.

The following religious groups are mentioned in the text:

What Muslims have to do before they go inside their church, the mosque:

What about the women? Do they also pray in a mosque? Click here to find out.

4. David tells us about different hassles (situations that are annoying).
What situations does David find annoying?

When you are together with other boys and girls of your age, do you sometimes come across those or similar types of hassles?

Different Cultures - The Mela Festival and an Asian Recipe

Visit the Mela Festival in Bradford. From your school book you know already that it is the biggest Asian festival in Europe. Look at pictures taken during the Mela 2000 and play a little guessing game with your partner. Then take a look at the Asian way of cooking. Almost at the end of this unit there are some songs by Paul McCartney for you. We'll finish this web unit with the lyrics of Michael Jackson's song "It don't matter if you're black or white"

1. Work with a partner. Choose one of the pictures and describe it to your partner. He/she must guess which picture it is. Here are some notes about the different pictures:

2. Parts of foreign cultures in my life. Think of your daily life. What has become part of it that is not German or European? Think of food, clothes, music, arts, technology, language, etc.
